

The JAPANESE JOURNAL OF HISTORY
OF PHARMACY, Vol. 35, No. 1 (2000)

CONTENTS

Special Articles

History of Schools of Pharmacy Founded in the Meiji Period
Toru OSHIMA : History of Meiji Pharmaceutical University .....	1
Takaji KOYAMA : Pharmaceutical Education in Meiji Era—Tohoku Region— .....	7
Takaji KOYAMA : Pharmaceutical Education in Meiji Era—Some Abolished Pharmaceutical Schools— .....	10
Kiyoshi KAWASE : Tokyo College of Pharmacy in the Meiji Period .....	18

Review

Jun OKUDA and Riichiro KIYOKAWA : Snake as a Symbol in Medicine and Pharmacy —A Historical Study— .....	25
---	----

Originals

Yukio ISA : AIDS through Blood Contamination (Early 1980s) and Urethane Shock (1975) .....	41
Akira HATTORI : Camphor in the Edo Era (2) Camphor and Borneol for Medicines (2) .....	49
Ryuzo ODA : The Advantages and Disadvantages of Artemisia princeps and A. montana .....	55
Hikaru OZAWA : Fifty Years History of New Drugs in Japan—The Developments and Trends of Antihypertensive Drugs— .....	63

Notes

Jun MAKI, Masahiro KUWADA, Hiroshige AKAHANE, Hiroshi SAKAGAMI, Kazuki OGATA, Nancy GARCIA, Vivian MATTA, Armand CACERES and Isao TADA : Traditional and Scientific Utilization of Medicinal Plants for the Treatment of Infectious Diseases by Microorganisms and Parasites in the Mayan Civilization Region .....	72
Masao UCHIBAYASHI : To Drink a Toast .....	75
Yoshito MATSUMOTO and Mitsuo YAMADA : Exclusive Used Medicine in the Japanese Dental Field since Meiji Era .....	77