

The JAPANESE JOURNAL OF HISTORY
OF PHARMACY, Vol. 38, No. 2 (2003)

CONTENTS

Plenary Lectures

- Hiroshi AMANO : The Separation of Drug Dispensaries from Medical Practice in the Taisho Era ; The Intense Conflict between Pharmacists and Medical Doctors .....129
- Masanari TAKAYAMA : Current Trends and Issues of the Japanese Pharmaceutical Industry .....134

Originals

- Kiyonobu OHASHI : A Study on Formulas of Etyu-Hangontan during the Edo Period .....139
- Teruko NAKAMURA, Nao TAKANO and Jiro ENDO : Examination of the Tanyin Chapter of the "Heji Jufang" .....144
- Masumi KATAKAI and Tadato TANI : A Pair of Crude Drugs Used in Shang-Han-Lun, especially the Ways of Using Roasted Licorice .....151
- Hisashi TAKAHASHI, Isao HAYAKAWA and Takeshi AKIMOTO : The History of the Development and Changes of Quinolone Antibacterial Agents .....161
- Akira HATTORI : Historical Study of the Moth Repellent, "Fujisawa Camphor" (3) An Exposition as an Advertisement Media .....180
- Teruko NAKAMURA, Hirokazu MIYAMOTO and Jiro ENDO : Characteristics of Pharmaceuticals in "Heji Jufang" .....185
- Masumi KATAKAI and Tadato TANI : Particular Combination of Two Crude Drugs Used in Six Stages in Shang-Han-Lun .....193

Biography

- Masao UCHIBAYASHI : An Etymology of Pharmacy in the Western Languages .....205

Miscellaneous

- Akira HATTORI : A Screw-threaded Container Cap in the Edo Era .....210
- Masahiko GOINO : Making of JSHP Web Site and Future Content .....211